COVERS RICHEST GOLD AREA IN CALIFORNIA

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Nevada County as well as the more populous counties of California, also has become a refuge and haven for the shaggy, the unbathed, the suffering and the unfortunate of Middle and Southern states, who have come to California for its more abundant relief. The California Citizens Association, an organization to cope with this influx of the indigent from other states, in a representative appearance before the Assembly Unemployment Relief committee on February 14, made a report which we commend to our readers. Excerpts follow:

Thus far, as the result of the Association's activities in giving wide publicity to the migrant problem, some amelioration is noticeable:

(1) The influx of non-resident migrants has decreased.

(2) The Farm Security Administration has begun to warn people against coming to California and has started a program of rehabilitation in those states from which the bulk of migration was derived.

(3) The Works Administration has increased minimum rural wages in some mid western regions, notably in Oklahoma where the minimum wage has been raised from $10.00 to $32.00 a month.

(4) Today, as the result of the action of the California Citizen's Association in circulating a petition to this State's delegation in Congress, a special committee of the House of Representatives is studying the inter-state migration of the domestic working population with a view toward providing legislation to meet the situation.

Martin Ruderman, official of the State Relief Administration, in his appearance before this committee, has revealed exactly what Supervisor Allenpaugh of Tulare County contended when he said "the indigents of other states have taken over California without firing a shot."

His testimony that one-quarter of California's relief clients have been in this state less than three years shows how far our public servants have gone in making this state the politically created mecca for the impoverished of the nation.

Since the first of the year the State Relief Administration, in spite of the virtual exhaustion of relief funds and in utter disregard of the taxpayers who must pay the bill, has dispensed relief with a large hand. The barriers have been let down Eligibility requirements in force three months ago have been suspended, either by direct order or by tacit approval of the State Releief Administration.

Is this an attempt to coerce and intimidate our lawmakers?

Is it an attempt to create a more serious situation than exists in reality?

Is it an attempt to create for future use a greater political power?

Is it an attempt to change the political and economic complexion of our state?

Is it not a direct evidence of willingness to capitalize on human misery by those making a career of administering public charity?

These are questions which every citizen of California has a right to ask—questions which demand a fair and honest answer.

Although we fully recognize that economic forces that have caused an unprecedented movement of workers across state lines may continue for some time we cannot desregard the fact that any effective movement of the population from areas where life is supported inadequately must depend upon the expansion of industry and job opportunities elsewhere.

Recognizing that the free movement of workers from areas of limited opportunity will and must continue, we see no justification of a government program, state and federal, which seeks to shift the burden for caring for the destitute of other states to the shoulders of California taxpayers.

And yet in the last two years 300,000 indigent and near-indigent migrants and their families have entered California.

They did not come to enjoy our equable climate.

They did not come seeking jobs, for they were warned that jobs were not available.

They came for the more abundant relief that California has provided for her needy citizens.

Miner Is Accused Of Relief Chiseling

A misdemeonar complaint was filed yesterday against Donald A. Wheeler signed by J. E. Barton, special representative of Harry B. Riley, state controller, charging that Wheeler had been accepting relief from the State Relief Administration while at the same time employed at the Lava Cap mine. It is charged that Wheeler applied and received relief between April 15 and December 4, amounting to $266.13, and in the same period received $743.90 in wages from the Lava Cap.

Wheeler was arrested yesterday afternoon as he came off shift and charged on five counts with petty theft.

The complaint alleges that under the name of "Arthur" Wheeler, the accused man applied on March 9, 1938, at the Auburn SRA office for relief. He has a wife and three children. He was granted relief. On April 15 he went to work at the Lava Cap mine, but continued to receive monthly relief checks until June 29, when he informed the relief office that he was going to move to Downieville. The record, it is alleged, shows he continued to work for the Lava Cap until Apgust 12. He went back to SFA office and again applied for relief on September 19 and it was again granted. He continued to receive relief until December 4, when the SRA officers discovered that he had been employed at the Lava Cap since October 17.

When confronted with the charge some weeks ago, Wheeler declared that he could not get along on his wages, amounting to approximately $150 per month, from the Lava Cap.

State Controller Riley has a staff of investigators in the field to inquire into cases of this kind and to prosecute them when ground for action is established. He invites public co-operation in reporting any cases of chiseling relief money as is alleged above. Relief money, the controller holds should go to those who need it and deserve it, and not to fakirs and chiselers.

GAULT BRIDGE TO BE WPA PROJECT

At a meeting of the city council and WPA officials last Tuesday it was decided to reconstruct the Galt bridge, long suspension bridge on Pine street. As soon as City Engineer Ed C. Uren is able to draw up plans for the bridge, the work will get under way. The engineer is slowly recovering from a severe illness.

REPORT OF YOUNG VS. FOLEY SUIT CORRECTED

Marvin Young, whose hand was permanently injured a year ago while working the ice cream freezer in Foley's Confectionery shop has called attention to an error in Monday's report of a suit filed by him against Mrs. Emma Foley, proprietor of the store. The part of the report to which exception is taken, reads: "It is stated that Mrs. Foley already has paid the youth approximately $1,800." The fact, according to Mrs. Foley, is that she has paid physicians' fees, nursing and hospital bills amounting to a sum much less than that mentioned in Monday's report.

ELKS VS. CHICO

The Nevada City Elks bowling team went to Chico last Sunday and played A and B teams in the first of the inter-city tournament series. The Nevada City A team won two games and lost one while the local B team lost three games. Strange alleys were a strong factor in losses to the local boys.

There are four teams entered in the tournament which will last six weeks. The Grass Valley team played Marysville last Sunday and Grass Valley will play Nevada City next Sunday evening at Nevada City.

The Nevada City A team lineup is as follows: John Fortier, Dave Richards, D. Sigfried, Arthur Hoge and John Sbaffi.

NEW HOMES

Cal Christensen has razed the old Cooper home on East Broad street and started construction of a new home. The new home will face on East Broad. The lot extends from East to West Broad street.

Tom Kegler and son have built new homes on the Grass Valley-Nevada City highway just above the Rio Grande service station. One is completed, the other nearly so. Mr. Kegler is in the Plaza Garage.

J. V. Hubbard and son, John, Jr., motored to Sacramento Wednesday and visited with Mr. Hubbards daughter, Miss Juanita Hubbard, who is attending University of California. She made the trip to Sacramento to visit her father and brother.

Bert Foreman, who has been ill with a severe cold was able to be down town for a short time yesterday afternoon. Little Iva Foreman, who has been with an aunt in British Columbia for a number of months returned to her home last Sunday. Her parents motored to Marysville and met her.

BLACKWOOD PAIR TO BE TRIED FOR MURDER MONDAY

The trial of Irl Blackwood and his wife, Irene, will open Monday in the superior court before Judge George L. Jones. The pair are charged with the murder of Arthur LaValley and James Roots on New Years day in a dispute over an outhouse. The killing took place in a camp ground at the edge of Grass Valley on the old Colfax road. The Blackwoods will be defended by William Cassettari and will be prosecuted by District Attorney Vernon Stoll.

SIERRA ASSESSOR IS ARRAIGNED

William H. Copren, county assessor of Sierra, was arraigned yesterday in Downieville with Judge George L. Jones of this county presiding. His attorneys, a brother, John V. Copren of Reno and J. Lowrey of Loyalton moved that the five counts in the indictments be dismissed. Judge Jones ordered the first count in the indictment dismissed but ruled the other four should stand. Copren pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for April 17.

Assessor Copren is accused of having attempted to influence his reelection to office by writing anonymous threatening letters to a number of voters in the county prior to the election of November 8.

G. V.-N. C. QUINTS TRY FOR COUNTY TITLE

The second of the Nevada County basketball championship games will be played tomorrow night at the local high school gym between Grass Valley high school and Nevada City high school A and B teams. The game will start at 7:30 with the B team playing the preliminary.

LACK OF EVIDENCE

The case of People vs. Wyant and Prines was dismissed yesterday afternoon after a preliminary hearing in the Nevada Township justice court before Judge Miles Coughlin. Johnson, Ivan Wyant, Jess Prine and Claude Prine engaged in a fight near their homes on the Salughterhouse road north of Grass Valley. After hearing the witnesses in the case it was dismissed for lack of evidence. The row took place February 15th. Wyant is from Missouri and the Prines are from Kansas.

UNLAWFUL DEER—$150

The case of Frank Morgan, Chicago Park rancher, was brought up in the court of Justice Charles Morehouse in Grass Valley yesterday morning and he was fined $150 and given 30 days to pay the fine. Morgan was arrested by Game Warden Earl Hiscox on the charge of having deer meat in his possession and hides from which evidence of sex had been removed.

FRED E. CONNER GIVE BOOST TO NOR. SAN JUAN

Fred E. Conner, president of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce. gives North San Juan, of which he is a suburban resident, a good boost in the following letter regarding member of the chamber who live in that town. His letter follows:

Nevada City Nugget

Dear Editor:

Community interest and community building, should be encouraged by every citizen and business interest in that certain locality. As a result of that mutual interest, many inquiries are made through the Chamber of Commerce, both orally expressed and through correspondence. Some of the calls may prove of less importance, while most of them, are positively important; all due however, to prompt and courteous response.

We are encouraged in the above opinion through the loyalty and co-operation of many of our members. Too, it is encouraging to notice that sentiment expressed by neighboring cities and towns.

As an example, we are referring to all the business interests of North San Juan. Let's individualize them as follows: The Red and White Store, managed by Mrs. Cunningham, who expects in the near future to move her place of business to a modernized store building in the center of North San Juan.

Mr. Louis Wood, owner and manager of a general merchandise store. Mr. Wood, in addition to improving his place of business, has recently built and painted three new cottages across the street from his store for renters.

The Forty Niner, a genial place of business.

The National Hotel, Mrs. J. S. Bradbury, manager, has, in the recent past, built comfortable quarters for miners working in the San Juan territory. Also, Mrs. Bradbury is reflooring the hotel living room, the dining room, and the bar room. When finished, those who will stop, when passing, will enjoy excellent meals and pleasant quarters for dancing.

The old business stand of Mr. W. E. Moulton, North San Juan is well known to all. A large business is conducted there, and in the same building, is the North San Juan post office and telephone exchange. Mr. Moulton will be glad from now on, to greet all of his old friends and customers.

In addition to the San Juan merchants, Mr. Gus Peterson, has recently opened his place of business in Sweetland, two and one half miles south of North San Juan at the junction of the road leading to the left, to French Corral and Bridgeport.

Mr. Peterson expects to improve his place of business—is interested in his district and he also, has joined the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce. Don't forget, to step in and say hello to Gus.

San Juan merchants, when informed that a special committee of our body had been appointed to wait upon the California Highway Commission, to the end of improving the highway between Nevada City and North San Juan, all expressed willingness to aid in every way possible.

Any of our members or friends who will stop for a visit at Sweetland or North San Juan, in passing, will receive a cordial welcome.

SIX COON HUNTERS BAG ONE FAT COON

A group of local sportsmen went into the Celestial Valley area above North San Juan Tuesday night and enjoyed a coon hunt. One big 20-pound coon was treed by the three hounds and brought down by expert shots. There was no snow on the ground but the men found it was extremely cold and no moon to guide them so it was inkly black in the mountainous country.

In the party were Sheriff Dewey Johnson and two companions of Downieville, while those from Nevada City were, Herbert Skeahan, Ralph Pierce, Chester Butz, Fred Butz, State Lion Hunter Charles Ledshaw and Thomas Arden, Sacramento Bee representative.

SERVICES AT TRINITY CHURCH

Rev. Barr G. Lee, archdeacon of Sacramento, will conduct servicess at the Episcopal church in Nevada City next Sunday. Holy Communion will be held.

School Talk And "Ferdinand The Bull" Entertain Rotary

Three girls from the high school presented a skit: "Ferdinand the Bull" for the entertainment of the Rotary club at noon yesterday, which was both musical and comical. The girls were Jane Bennett, Mary Libbey and Margie Keckler. The latter impersonated Ferdinand, Jane Bennett was the picador and Mary Libbey played the accompaniment.

H. E. Kjorlie, superintendent of the Nevada City Unified school district was chairman of the program. Frank Finnegan, past president presided in the absence of President Andy Holmes.

Mr. Finnegan appointed a committee to write a letter of thanks to the Rotary Anns, who provided a bountiful meal and an excellent entertainment at the "ladies night" meeting last week.

Mr. Kjorlie gave a brief talk on the scholastic standing and the financial status of the high and elementary schools of the Nevada City district.

Recently the University of California has made a survey of the scholastic achievements of high school students in the University. The average for all students in the university, he stated, was 1.15 whereas Nevada City high school graduates in the university made an average of 1.78, sixty three points higher than the average. Robt. Proctor has done much to give Nevada City boys and girls this high average. Last year he had an "A' in every course in which he registered.

The above averages were taken for the five years ending 1936. Mr. Kjorlie states that 1938 and 1939 records will probably bring Nevada City's graduate scholastic score up to 2.00. This means that the five years recorded have been equal to a "C plus" average. and the two years following will bring the average close to a B.

Last year 60 per cent of the senior class went on to institutions of higher learning, which in itself constituted a fine record.

Mr. Kjorlie stated that the present system of sending boys out to various business houses to receive vocational training, is meeting with enthusiasm both on the part of business men and the students. In a short time, the Nevada City school expects a state allotment for carrying on this vocational training, which in some respects is better than that given in vocational departments of high schools.

The average daily attendance at the Nevada City high school has risen from a low of 128 in 1923 to 440 in 1939. The average daily attendance of the elementary school has risen from a low of 197 in 1929 to the present enrollment of 445.

The yearly cost per pupil in the high school has risen from $92 in 1932 to $137 in 1938. Since 1924, however, the cost per pupil has declined from $178 to $137.

As compared with other high schools in the same general group, Nevada City high school shows far less cost per pupil per year. In Lemoore, Kings county, the cost per pupil is $267.75. Livermore, Alameda county, shows a cost of $184.-76. Gilroy, Santa Clara county, reveals a cost of $155,10 per pupil. In a list of twelve high schools in Nevada City's class, the costs per pupil ($137) in this city are third from the lowest figure. Grass Valley with a cost of $122.66 per pupil is at the bottom of the list.

In a list of twelve elementary schools in the same general group, Nevada City is fifth from the bottom with a cost of $68.65 per pupil per year as compared with Lindsay, Tulare county, near the top of the list with a cost per pupil of $81.46.

At present, Mr. Kjorlie stated, some 23 students from San Juan ridge communities are attending high school. The state allows $89 per pupil for average daily attendance, whereas the actual cost per pupil as stated before is $137.72. Under present conditions the Nevada City district tax payers are being taxed to make up the difference between $89 and $137. and the districts from which they come do not contribute a cent toward this cost. The Gold Flat district adjacent to Nevada City levies a tax to cover the difference between the state allotment and the actual cost to tax payers.

C. OF C. ELECTION

President Fred E. Conner, announces that the annual Chamber of Commerce election will be held next Wednesday evening, March 1 at a linner at 6:30 at the National hotel it was announced yesterday by President Fred E. Conner. A large attendance is expected by the chamber officers.

SPRY BUSINESS MAN CAPTURES STRAY OPOSSUM

Paul Lane, clerk at the Cardinal store and Eddie Powell brought home an opposum, Tuesday night when they returned from a show in Auburn. When they neared the Bear river bridge, Lane saw the 'possum traveling along the road and in his excitement jumped out of the car and started after it. Powell as soon as he could ge his breath, stopped the car and jumped out exclaimed. "What in heck are you doing; have you gone crazy?' Lane, a native of South Carolina knowing his animals, kept on running until he picked up the prized creature which is considered a delicacy in the south.

Frank Ghidotti, manager of the Cardinal store, yesterday placed the creature in his show window. It has a long siout, shot-button eyes, long grizzly gray hair, a long ratlike tail. It looks like an over-grown gray rat. It is stated a local citizen from the south wanted to buy the opposum, as soon as he saw it, for a feast.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Evans, of Auburn, spent the past week end visiting the young mens mother, Mrs. Grace Evans of Long street.

DRILL TESTS IN COLUMBIA HILL GRAVEL MADE

Bramley Melville, engineer for a South African mining company, with a crew of fifteen men is making tests of gravel deposits near Columbia Hill.

The engineer and his men, several with families, reside in North San Juan. The road between North San Juan, over which these men travel each day is reported in bad condition in several spots. The road traverses portions of Supervisors Warren Odell and Jay Coughlan's districts.

There is considerable heavy hauling over the road, for it is a section of the road to Alleghany, and complaints have been received regarding portions of it which are reported to need repairing since the last storm.

Melville's crew is making a drill test examination of a large acreage. If the tests coincide with those made some years ago by the Guggenheim interests, there is a prospect that the South African company will take over the area and develop it as soon as the Narrows debris dam is ready. Good roads would be an advantage in making the examination, traveling to and fro on the part of the crew members, as well as to all the traffic that uses the road to Alleghany, and for the heavy hauling now and later to Columbia Hill.

HEFELFINGER ESTATE

The estate of Clarence Hefelfinger was filed for probate yesterday by the widow, Mrs. Isobel Hefelfinger. Hefelfinger passed away in the east in 1938. The estate consists of personal property valued at less than $2,500 and it is requested that the estate be set aside to the widow. Hefelfinger also left a young daughter, Joannie Hefelginger.

The Machine Age Exonerated

There are some who believe that our modern "machine age" has contributed largely to our economic ills; that making things better by machinrey has caused unemployment.

An official Federal census of unemployment, however, sheds some interesting light to the contrary. Unmployment is highest in the least mechanized occupations, the census has revealed.

For instance, agriculture tops the field with more unemployed than any other occupation. Personal and domestic service is next and building occupations third. The census showed about 680,000 unemployed in agriculture.

In more highly mechanized occupations unemployment was found to be less. Unemployed textile workers numbered only about 187,000 and miscellaneous manufacturing workers without jobs totaled approximately 150,000.

This is added evidence that technological development under the incentive of the American Patent System both develops and protects jobs; that in the long run, machines make not only more jobs but also more and better goods for more people.—Contributed.

By Popular Demand

The controversy over whether the House of Representatives should continue its investigation of un-American activities in the United States is ended. Despite pressure of officials opposing the investigation, the House has seen fit to project the probe for another year.

In so doing the House followed the dictate of the public, as was evidenced by the polls of public opinion on the question. But of more importance was the recognition by the Congressmen that a real threat to Americanism exists; that communism, fascism and other alien "isms" are making inroads in some spots in America, and that unless they are exposed now the overthrow of Constitutional government might someday come about.

It is important, too, that the public is aware of the threat. Had the public been unaware of it, there would have been no great public demand for continuance of the investigation.

This is a heartening sign that Americanism is still a cherished possession of Americans and that Americans can be aroused to protect it.—Contributed.

What This Country Needs (?)

A rather startling declaration about what is wrong with America and what this country needs, has been made by a Washington official generally recognized as an administration spokesman.

The inevitable end of private control in America is illustrated by the present day Germany, said this gentleman. He added that Germany a few years ago "needed a general and Hitler leaped into power."

Then came the startling part of his speech. He said the trouble in America was that there was not enough control over the private citizen. In his own words: "The trouble is inadequate policing. The referee has been too long absent in most sections of American industry."

Only one conclusion can be drawn from this declaration—the spokesman believes the "American way" needs revamping; that America needs a "general" in power to control everything.

This is gentleman apparently pictures the American of the future thus: The citizen speaking and writing only what he is told he can speak or write; the farmer growing only what he is told to grow and selling his products only to those permitted to buy them; the worker doing the work he is told to do and not the work he wants to do; the housewife buying only what she is told to buy and in the qualities allotted her; the voter voting as he is told to vote and the taxpayer paying the bill without a voice in how it is spent.

If this spokesman sees that as the "inevitable end" of American freedom, it is apparent that he has not reckoned with the spirit of liberty that created America, and the lasting determination of this free people to keep themselves free.—Contributed.

SUIT FOR CAR CRASH DAMAGE

CAMPTONVILLE, Feb. 24.—The largest damage action ever filed in the local justice court was started Thursday in the case of C. M. Sitton vs. Delmar McVey, the outcome of an automobile accident near here last August in which Sitton alleges his car was damaged and he sustained physical injuries and in his complaint asks for $200 for personal injury, $50 for loss of time and $36 for damage done to his car, a total of $286. He is represented by his attorney H. W. Sheldon of Nevada City.

Senate Bill No. 786 introduced by Senator Powers, is of special interest to the mining industry inasmuch as it amends the Political Code and recreates a Department of Mines which existed prior to 1937 when the department was incorporated into the Department of Natural Resources as is the present Division of Mines. The bill would place the new department under a non-salaried State Mining Board, composed of five mining men, which is at present an advisory board. It would create a Director of Mines, appointed by the governor on recommendation of the state mining board ,at a salary of $6,000 a year, the same salary as is now paid the present Chief of Division of Mines. It places the supervision of the new department under the State Mining Board with the Director of Mines a member of the governor's council. The new proposal would lift mining out of the status of a division and would give it full power as an independent department and complete recognition as a department of the state government. It creates no additional expense and retains all present civil service employees now in the Division of Mines.

Senate Bill No. 785, also introduced by Senator Powers amends the new public resources code and recreates a Department of Mines. Same provisions as S. B. 786. This bill was introduced in anticipation of adoption of new Public Resources Code.

Senate Bill No. 699 introduced by Senator Bigger proposes to add a section to the Public Resources Code providing that all material dredged by gold dredgers must be replaced to its original depth with top soil replaced. It would compel "landscaping" of all dredged property. The bill imposes a penalty of a $500 fine or six months in jail as a misdemeanor.

Senate Bill No. 857 introduced by Senator Carter would repeal Section 661 of the Civil Code. This section of the present code reads as follows:

"Sluice boxes, flumes, hose, pipes, railway tracks, cars, blacksmith shops, mills and all other machinery and tools used in working or developing a mine, are to be deemed affixed to the mine."

Senator Carter explains that the law has worked a hardship on lessees who failed to provide in their leases for removal of tools and equipment placed on leased claims by them. Repeal of Section 661 would permit the removal of loose tools, machinery and equipment not permanently affixed to the soil, whether or not such removal was provided in the lease.

Charles L .Gilmore and W. H. Metson, mining attorneys, according to the Mining and Industrial News, feel the law should not be changed as it has been in force since 1872. They feel that its repeal would lead to additional lawsuits and tha the lessee can be protected by drawing a proper lease.

While this completes a digest of the eight bills before the committees of mines and mining of the state legislature there are other bills such as wages and hour bills and fish and game bills which also effect the mining industry. We may touch on these next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gregory came down from Washington on a business trip Tuesday. He is employed at the Spanish mine.

MRS. MARGARET LEWIS PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY

Mrs. Margaret Lewis passed away at the home of her sisters on Cement Hill yesterday forenoon after several weeks illness, saddening a community who had known her as a kindly Christian woman. Lewis on October 28, 1891. They resided in a cosy little home at the summit between Sugar Loaf and the airport. Two children remain of the four born to the couple. One is a son, Albert Davies who lived with his mother and a daughter, Mrs. W. H. Jewel of Kansas City. There are two sisters, Misses Mary and Caroline Davies, brother, David Albert Davies, two grandchildren and six nephews.

A telegram has been sent to the daughter, funeral arrangements are awaiting word from her. The remains are at the Holmes Funeral Home, which will conduct services as soon as plans are completed.

FROM TROMSO TO FARAWAY HAITI

(Reprinted from the Oslo (Norway) "Aftenpoften", February 6 1939).

FROM TROMSO TO HAITI
And Now the Authoress of a Remarkable Child Life Story of Ter Home Town.

We have several times told about the French artist Parin d'Aulaire and his Norwegain wife, who through their art make excellent propaganda for Norway for the children of America.

Oslo now has on a visit another "friend of Norway," Mrs. Ebeltoft Davis, born and raised in Tromso, now married and for many years a resident in America. Last fall she published a book for young girls (Harper Brothers, New York). It is so truly Norwegian that it is difficult to believe that it was written in English and published in New York. The scene is in Tromso and the time the childhood of the author. The theme is medly of fantasy and fact but entirely authentic, and so fresh and so charmingly told. The author has a most happy conception of the child mind to which every little occurrence is a grand experience. Truly dramatic, one may say breath taking is her story of the annual reunion with the sun when on a high hill above the town the people greet the sun's return after the long months of darkness.

She has called her book "The Year is a Round Thing". The year to her child mind was like a wheel with twelve spokes standing still. One circle up the dark fall months to Christmas which is on the top, and then down to the wonderful bright summer. On our way we get all of the strong seasonal contrasts which this, the "Paris of the North" has to offer. Wonderful is this big little world with ships from all ports of the globe bringing a longing for warmer and kinder climes. For the lands where spices grow and real black people dwell.

It is a joy to hear Mrs. Davis tell of how her childhood dreams came true. Even more fully than she had ever dared to hope.

One day she sailed for America to visit friends in South Carolina where she never arrived. On her ship were some Norwegian business men who wanted a Norwegian woman in their New York branch office. This job she was offered and accepted, and soon finds herself sitting at her desk in a sky scraper 5 stories above the street. Exciting, but not the haven for which she had longed. Then freedom came. One day tired and cramped by office work she was chinning herself on the transom. The door opened and there he stood. Three weeks later they were married. The "he" was Harold Palmer Davis, well known in the Americas, a mining engineer but then in business in Haiti. He has written a number of books, among them "Black Democracy" which may be found in our University library. He is the famous H. P. Davis in William Seabrook's most successful book "The Magic Island." Seabrook was a guest of the Davis' during his visit to Haiti.

The Davis family resided for 12 years in Haiti, then for several years in New York and then Mr. Davis engaged in his original occupation and they are now located in the picturesque mining town, Nevada City. And in this quiet little town, Mrs. Davis wrote her memories of her childhood days in Norway.

Poet — "Thieves broke into my house last night."
Friend—"What did they take?"
Poet — "Nothing. They searched the place thoroughly and then left a $10 bill on my dresser."

PULL YOUR OWN WEIGHT

The United States' greatest contribution to life is the conception that labor is something dignified and desirable for everyone, declares Channing Pollock, distinguished playwright, author, and publicist, in the current Rotarian Magazine. Work is its own reward, he believes, for nobody ever did anything well, or got anywhere, without joy in his job, and that is as true of little jobs as of big ones.

"We can have neither progress nor prosperity, neither opportunity nor democracy," says Mr. Pollock, "while any considerable number of us regard work as an enemy, but, what is more to the point, we shall find our dignity equally lessened, and our self-respect, and our pleasure in living.

"There are dirty jobs, dull jobs, devastating jobs, but I think there can be few, even of these, that do not give some return outside of the pay envelope," he continues. "It really must help to know that you're pulling your weight, doing your bit, and holding your place in the world—at least it must help the man whose vision hasn't been distorted."

The man who doesn't find his job too dull or too devastating isn't likely to hold it very long, the playwright says, for the majority of successful men started at jobs that may have seemed uninteresting, yet of which they were unashamed and unresentful.

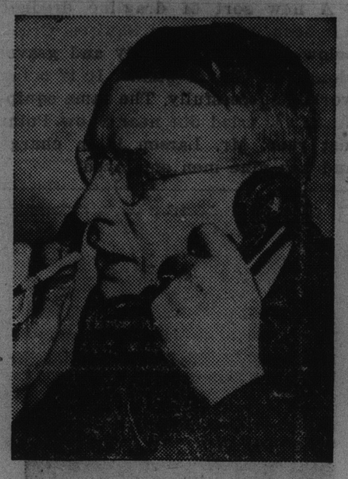
"They were banking on themselves; playing a thrilling game; keeping one eye on the bolts, or the wastebaskets, and the other on the gold—not necessarily material gold —at the foot of the rainbow," Pollock points out. They could say, as J. M. Barrie once did, "The most precious possession I ever had—my joy in hard work."

"It is too bad, perhaps, that so many of us toiled to the exclusion of other good things, such as enjoyment of leisure and literature and art, but I should say that wise and balanced enjoyment of labor, like wise and balanced enjoyment of the leisure, is an art.

"I can't remember any good job I ever did that didn't leave me thrilled, exultant, and almost hysterically happy," he observes. "Of course there's no happiness in the other kind, though, mercifully, we often mistake bad work for good while doing it. But when one perseveres, and bad work becomes good—that's the thrill that, luckily, comes more than once in a lifetime."

Miss Ruth Curnow, who is in her first year at San Jose State College, will spend the coming week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Curnow, in Nevada City.

MILITARIZE CCC?



John Chrosniak, lieutenant colonel in the United States army reserve, is president of the newly formed American Conservation association, a group making an effort to organize the Civilian Conservation corps on a permanent basis, fully officered and supervised by reserve officers on permanent detail. If the association's efforts are successful, the new group will add another pressure unit in the political scene which might easily rival the widespread influence of the American Legion.

U. S. CANADA SEAWAY

Shall the United States and Canada build the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway? Yes, assents Hanford MacNider, former United States minister to Canada, in the symposium in the current Rotarian Magazine. If a seaway is built, counters Frank L. Bolton, president of the New York State Waterways Association, it should be over the all-American route. A Canadian point of view is expressed by B. M. Coghlin, president of The Montreal Board of Trade, who asserts the seaway is needed neither for transportation nor for power.

"Mid-continental North America suffers from hardening of its transportation arteries," contends Colonel MacNider. "Here is a great natural water route—extending 2,687 miles from Duluth, Minn., to the Atlantic Ocean. By constructing eight or nine locks, deepening connecting channels, and developing incidental power, the United States alone will extend its coastline 25 per cent and enable 88 per cent of the ships now entering its seaports to go directly to more than two dozen Great Lakes cities."

"I am not an alarmist, nor am I given to shadow boxing every time I hear a sword rattle," declares Mr. Bolton, who favors the all-American route from Lake Ontario to the Hudson river. "Nevertheless, the crises through which some nations have been passing have compelled pacific-minded Americans—believers in international goodwill and understanding—to give more thought to national defense."

If the United States were embroiled in a war, it would need a waterway over which it could exercise complete control, he believes, maintaining that if a seaway is built, American money should be spent on American soil, where it will benefit American producers and consumers, American engineers and labor, American manufacturers of building materials.

Presenting a Canadian viewpoint on the St. Lawrence project, Mr. Coghlin asserts that it is commercially and economically unsound, pointing out that to the extend that it would be successful it would divert sorely needed traffic from other transportation facilities. In Canada, he says, it would result in an inordinate tax burden without commensurate benefits.

"So far as Canada is concerned," says the president of The Montreal Board of Trade, "we may dismiss the power feature completely because there is now more hydroelectric power available, developed or undeveloped, in the two central provinces of Quebec and Ontario than will likely be required for our own use for generations."

William Watson, local contractor of Long street who is employed at the fair on Treasure Island, spent the past week end with his family in Nevada City. He has been working at the fair grounds about two months.

FEDERAL REGISTRATION SCOTS FLAT WPA

Tuesday a notary public took registration of citizens at the WPA camp at Scotts Flat for federal authorities who are attempting to segregate natulalized, natives and foreigners qualifying the group for March 4 under recent WPA regulations. The statement of the men were taken, later they will appear before government agent for further questioning. It is estimated there were about 195 men on the project with fluctuations changing the figures as much as 30 men a daw at times as the men come and go to the camp. The men are working on the roads, clearing the site of the dam of trees and brush and working in the bed of the dam. It is reported that practically all men at the camp were citizens of the United States.

Burns Volume Guarded in Transport

Poet Robert Burns received $30 for this edition of his work. When the securely wrapped single volume was transferred from the Morgan library in New York to Kearny, N. J., it was transported in an armored truck and insured for $30,000. Reverend Richard D. Jones (third from left) borrowed the book from J. P. Morgan for the celebration of the Scottish bard's 180th birthday. It is a first edition volume, published in 1786 in Kilmarnock, Scotland.

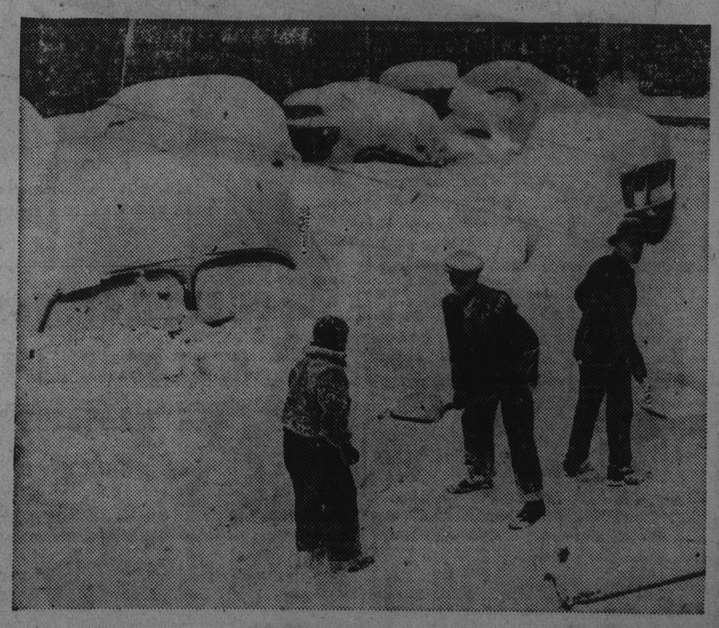
Chicago Paralyzed When Storm Strikes



Thousands of Chicago motorists found their cars buried deep in banks of snow recently when one of the worst storms in the city's history crippled all surface traffic. They came with the knowledge that the Federal Government would subsidize them for the one year required to get State unemployment relief.

They came with the knowledge that medical aid and schooling for their children would be provided.

And often these migrants to California were financed by kinfolks on WPA in this state—kinfolks who spent their WPA and Farm Security Administration cash relief in telegraphing relatives, "come on out — they give you everything here."

Who can doubt California's more attractive relief is responsible?

The bulk of the mirgration has come from four states—Arkansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Texas. In the month of October the average relief paid in California was $28.60 as compared with $3.46 in Arkansas, $3.79 in Oklahoma, $10.81 in Missouri, and $9.14 in Texas.

The people of California are now confronted with a governmental philosophy which says "these people are here, they must be taken care of". On the contrary these people are here because they are taken care of.

Who are these migrants?

The demagogues will tell you they are refugees from the dust bowl. Families whose farms were blown away, whose cattle died in the drought.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. While it is true that there is an occasional "dust bowler" among them, for the most part they are displaced share-crop and hill country families, migrating now, probably for the first time. They come from the Ozark Plateau, of Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas where they eked out an existence by tie-cutting, stave-making and hunting to supplement their garden patches. They come from the impoverished sub-marginal stratum of the East Texas cotton belt and from Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas, an area notorious for suffering and misery among share croppers. They represent the lowest economic competitive group in their home states.

We are confronted with the building up of an indigent population here out of all proportion to the population of California.

There are now more than 900,000 people in California living on some kind of public bounty—county, state, federal. This is more than 16 per cent of the state's population. We are confronted by an administration philosophy that is an open invitation to the rest of the nation's impoverished.

Are we to permit this 16 per cent to be the controlling factor in the management of our government?

In view of recent European history it is not reasonable to suspect the motives of those who pander to our indigent population?

What is it they seek?

Do they seek a new social and economic order?

An examination of the proposals by which problems of unemployment and relief would be met furnish the answer. Or—

Are they so blind as to fail to see the warning written so large across the history pages of modern times—warnings that speak eloquently of the enslavement of human liberty?

High ranking officials of the Staff Relief Administration have appeared before this and other Assembly committees proposing a housing program for indigent migrants; they have proposed production-for-use projects and self-help cooperatives and have characterized California's relief payments—the highest in the nation outside metropolitan New York as "niggardly" and have proposed raising them within the year by at least 25 per cent.

The indigent non-residents should be encouraged and aided to return to their home states and there be rehabilitated by state and federal governments.

The marginal people of other states should be warned that no relief of any sort, federal or state, is available to non-residents in California—and all such aid now given so freely in California, should be withdrawn.

Are we going to stand by and see our best efforts in building up democratic social order utterly, devastatingly and irrevocably destroyed by a social and political economy that has for its purpose the subsidizing of human misery, the demogogic appeal to personal tragedy and the plundering of the wage earner for the benefit of the indolent?

In the last analysis the burden of economic crisis falls upon the man least able to carry the load. It means the destruction of home ownership, of farm ownership, of individual initiative and youthful opportunity.

We need only to read the record of the fall of social order in Europe to understand the dire consequences of such action upon human liberty.

There is no surer, no more drastically certain way to enslave our people our wage earners, our farmers, our home owners, our employed people in all walks of life than to place upon them the burden of supporting the indolent and unfortunate from other states.

Deputy Matron Visits Evangeline Chapter

About one hundred members and visitors attended a meeting of Evangeline Chapter Tuesday evening. Deputy Matron Lura West of Colfax and several members of Bethany Chapter of Colfax besides members from Aurora Chapter, Grass Valley and Crystal Chapter of Auburn were in attendance. Between 35 and 40 members of the Rainbow Assembly of girls of Auburn and Mother Advisor Mrs. B. A. Cassidy exemplified the work of their order in a very beautiful and impressive manner. Sentiment among Eastern Star members locally seems in favor of forming an assembly of the Rainbow order here and an invitation had been extended to the local Masons to attend the meeting. All were much impressed with the work. After the meeting a dainty buffet luncheon was served in the banquet hall.

JOLLY TIME DANCE

The Jolly Time dancing club will meet for another of their delightful parties in Odd Fellows hall Saturday evening. Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen has been named chairman of the refreshment committee. Since starting the club about a month ago the membership has grown almost to the quota which was set at 76. Guest cards are being issued for those wishing to bring a guest. Virginia reels, Paul Jones' and all the old time dances are being enjoyed. Mrs. Pauline Stephens was elected president and Mrs. Marvel Keller, secretary-treasurer.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By JEAN MARTZ

Librarians for the school year have been announced. They are: Doris Rosynski, Hetty Clark, Barbara Phariss, Beverly Barry, Bob Reeder, Dot Hoff and Ben Tamblyn. Assistant librarians for each period are being chosen. The library recently received several new books. They are: Leaders of Destiny—Zaca Venture. Stars to the Windward—English Synonyms and Antonyms. Eight Thousand Words Often Mispronounced. Te librarians hope to have a successful year.

SKI CLUB

The high school ski club met Tuesday afternoon to decide upon a snow party to be held Wednesday. The ski club is quite large and very active and many good times are in store for them. The faculty held a snow party last Saturday, which was enjoyed by all.

ASSEMBLY THIS AFTERNOON

There will be an assembly this afternoon. The sophomores are in charge of it, and will present their annual program. There is much talent in this class and the program should be good. There will be several instrumental numbers.

During the assembly there will be a "pep" rally. for the Grass Valley-Nevada City game Friday. Nevada City high school will probably send a delegation to Grass Valley to invite them up to the game here.

LECTURE

Last Friday morning, Mr. Connor of Woodbury College gave a lecture on "Vocational Training." He is an excellent speaker and held the attention of all the students. He left information about Woodbury College in the office, for all who are interested.

NEVADA CITY VS. GRASS VALLEY

Tonight is the date set for the second big Nevada City-Grass Valley game of the season. In the former game at Grass Valley, Grass Valley Miners won by only three points. It was a very good game on the part of both the teams. With Nevada City in their own gymnasium, and with a little more experience there is high hope held for them. However, if the Jackets lose again it will be a game worth seeing. The Jackets will at least give them a fight to the finish.

At Sacramento last Wednesday, the Jackets were again defeated by the Grant Union high school teams. The A game was won by only three points, but as usual, the B game was taken easily.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Wednesday, the high school enjoyed a holiday in honor of George Washington's birthday. The teachers and many students also enjoyed the day skiing. Half of the first six weeks period of the second semester is now through. The students are busy preparing papers, reports and ending up their contracts in English and U. S. history.

ART EXHIBITION

The art classes are progressing very well. Much good work has been displayed by the students, and is now being exhibited on the bulletin board in the study hall.

CAPS AND GOWNS

The big question before the seniors is "shall we wear caps and gowns or go formal at graduation?" It is undecided where the students will graduate but most of them seem to be in favor of the caps and gowns, white for the girls, and black for the boys. It will be decided upon later in a class meeting.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

The girl's A basketball teams played a real game last Friday. They now play two court basketball. Margie Keckler's team won their third game by the score 6 to 8. A practice game was held Tuesday. Laura Price's team was only five so one of the substitutes for the other side played, and the game could not be counted.

Last Friday the assembly was invited and there was a large audience.

SCHOLARSHIP PINS

Last Friday in the assembly period, Miss Rector, the C. I. F. advisor, awarded those students with gold pins. They are small torch pins with a "C" on them. They are awarded for a semester and if the student fails to qualify the second semester, it is taken away. This is a real goal for the students to work for. Those who received pins were: Betty Krough, Margaret Norton, Ruth Mitchell, Pat Presley, James McCraney, Jim Hunter.

BUBBLE AND SQUEAK

BY ROY GRIFFITHS DEETER

LOCAL

Work will start very shortly on the Grass Valley-Auburn highway. A two mile stretch from the now famous Death Curve on will be completely rerouted, and the distance now covered will be shortened by half a mile. The curves at this point of the road have long been a menace, and often deterring the more timid visitors from this route. We hope that this improvement to be will really be the beginning of a fine new highway to Auburn.

SPORTS

Very disappointing were the ski jumps at Treasure Island on the opening evening. Despite a galaxy of jumping stars from all over, the distances made were small. Above all it struck us that the main handicap, apart from "soft snow" was the very short run at the foot of the jump. Almost too short to stop in after a jump exceeding 112 feet. The jumpers made every effort to put on a good show and no doubt the spectators got a big thrill, especially as the stands are placed in such a way the jumpers appear to be directly above one. But after some of the jumps to be seen, no further away from us of Nevada County that Cisco, we'd say the whole show must have been disappointing to local ski fans who were present at the Treasure Island show.

HOUSEHOLD

We have recently discovered a new and different type of slip cover to doll up the old furniture for the summer months. Fairly inexpensive, ready made for almost any type of chair or davenport, the material is sturdy, comes in a variety of colors, is washable and sun fast. The main feature as we see it, is that it is basically a lastex material, that fits like a glove and positively will not wrinkle when sat upon. A boon indeed for the busy housewife.

TRIVIA

A charming young matron was asked by a friend to stop at the library and get a book called "The Tree Grown Straight." The said C. Y. M. having a trick memory could not for the life of her recall the exact title. She returned with a book entitled "The Twig Is Bent."

NETZ OPENS QUARRY FOR BUSY SEASON

Ludwig Netz has reopened his granite quarry and monument works on Factory street, following the winter months of inactivity, and is preparing for a busy season between now and Memorial Day.

Netz is one of the most expert granite and marble scultors in Northern California and his work has been in demand in Nevada City and throughout the county for many years. He is equipped with modern machinery for quantity production, though the quality is never sacrificed for quantity.

For the next few months he has many orders to complete and his quarry will be a scene of busy production of tomb stones granite curbing and other stone work.

STOLEN BICYCLES RETURNED

James Morrison and Dale Berger's bicycles were stolen Tuesday. Principal Klee of the grammar school, the children's parents and friends went on an intensive hunt for them, but no bicycles discovered. The matter was then reported to the sheriff. Sometime Wednesday night the bicycles were returned to the grammar school. The authorities are continuing the investigation.
